Designed in a modern stainless steel and white glass finish with LED strip lights that produce a natural brightness, illuminating the cooking area. Powered by a sophisticated remote control, the range hood ensures complete control when using the cooktop.

The appliance's innovative "plug & play" system means the hood can easily be installed in either air recycling or duct out modes, making this ceiling hood extremely versatile. The upkeep of the CHR1000 has been kept to a minimum with a washable anti grease aluminum filter as well as a light, indicating when the grease filter needs cleaning and maintaining, leaving more time for the more important things in life.... Cooking!
